Introduction:

Unique features of CDC Program:

Personal counselling sessions-

This is a unique feature offered only by MANTHAN's CDC course. Every student will be required to undergo about 12 to 16 personal counselling sessions.

This helps the student to-

- ✓ develop understanding of 'self' and gain insight
- ✓ learn application and use of different theories and techniques
- ✓ helps the counselee to experience the feelings like empathy, respect....
- ✓ understanding the feelings the counselee will experience while in the counselling process
- ✓ enables greater efficiency on the part of the counsellor

Online students will be guided to perform this through constant monitoring of their work with the counselee through telephonic conversations or skype.

Supervised Control Counselling sessions:

This part of the course strengthens the counsellor's ability to help counselee with various symptoms and experience the actual process of counselling he/she will encounter while practicing professionally. About 16 to 18 hours of control counselling sessions are offered to every student

- this involves the opportunity to counsel an actual counselee learning to choose the appropriate techniques under controlled supervision of the guiding counsellor.
- Online students will be guided to perform this through constant monitoring of their work with the counselee through telephonic conversations or skype.

Contact Points

- About 10 contact s are made during the course through e-mails, skype or telephone calls.
